RHYME FLIES

I made up a poem for MAD Magazine:

I wish I had,
A MAD,
Wouldn't that be rad?
I know I would be glad,
I would never be sad,
It's not just a fad.
It's not for people who are bad,
It's for anyone that reads in their pad,
It's even for dad.
I read MAD when I was a tad of a lad,
Now I am grown up and I still read it.
Paul Dale Roberts, Elk Grove, CA

Paulie Walnuts — We were enjoying your poem right up to "I wish!" We hope your career is just like Shakespeare's, specifically, the past 500 hundred years when he hasn't written anything! —Ed.

MAD CELEBRITY SNAPS

While visiting the Orlando region this past October, I stumbled upon Sophia — the "smart kid" from Kid Nation. OK, so it wasn't really much of a stumble as she lives in my sister's house (she's my niece). While a fan of MAD, she does not have a subscription (I blame my cheap sister). Being cheap myself, I had a picture taken with Sophia holding a copy of the October issue. I am hereby submitting it for a three-year MAD subscription that I will generously donate to Sophia and her siblings. Having been a MAD reader for the past 40+ years, I need to pass on the legacy of Mort Drucker and the "usual gang of idiots" to a new generation. Please help me to retain my status as "favorite uncle!"

Dr. Jeffrey Pearson,
San Diego, CA

Pearson Pressure — Congratulations on getting the awesome snap of Kid Nation's resident 30-year-old woman trapped in a 14-year-old's body. We'll say this though, we don't think anyone who agreed to take part in Kid Nation can be called "smart"! —Ed.

THE PRIZE IS RIGHT

I heard that you give away free stuff to people who get their letters in MAD. So what kind of stuff do you guys give away? Is it anything you guys want or do you have limits? I am a collector of your magazines and you guys rock! Please keep being awesome!

Robert Schuster, Niles, MI

Punk Schuster — Good question and we're glad you asked! Each month the coolest, most generous companies send us awesome free stuff that we can pass on to readers. For example, this month you'll get a copy of The Complete Worst-Case Scenario Survival Handbook and Chucks! Did you deserve these fantastic prizes? Absolutely! But, as we said, these companies are very generous. Two issues ago, we wanted to give a brand new Corvette to every reader that had their missive published, but alas, Chevrolet was not cool, nor generous enough to provide us with a bunch of $60,000 cars! Thanks for nothing, G. Richard Waggoner Jr. (Chairman and CEO of General Motors Corporation)! —Ed.

KID-NATION STANDOUT SOPHIA

READER ALERT I

Fans of long-time MAD artist (and current Parisian resident) Rick Tulka will want to pick up a copy of Paris Café: The Select Crowd written by Noël Riley Fitch and illustrated by Rick. It's a tribute to the almost 100-year-old Left Bank café and its famous (and non-famous) patrons. It's available now wherever books are sold!

NOT FEELING THE BURN

I recently had to evacuate my home because of the Southern California wildfires. My family had about an hour to pack up and leave. Twice I walked past my collection of old MAD Magazines, circa 1966-1976. The third time I couldn't resist and threw the stack of about 50 magazines into my Jeep, sorta hiding them in case my husband gave me a hard time. When we finally reached our friend's house and were safe, I confessed to my friend that I grabbed the magazines. His reply was, "Hey, that's the attitude you should have, the same as the red-haired guy. What, me worry?" Well, I thought about that the entire five days I was evacuated from my home. "What, me worry?" In fact, Alfred's wisdom helped a lot as wildfires raged through my community. Happily, me, my family and my stack of MAD Magazines were able to return to our unburned home. Thanks to Alfred and all you crazy schmucks at MAD Magazine for helping me get through this difficult time.

Angela Liewen, Ramona, CA

Angelo-ia — We got many letters from people affected by the wildfires, but unlike you, they wrote to say they embraced the oncoming conflagration as a chance to toss in their MAD collections and be done with them once and for all! In fact, fire marshals estimate that a full 1/3 of the damage caused by the fires was fueled by people chucking in their MADs! We're glad you and your family are safe and that your house was unharmed. It sounds like the only tragedy for you is that your MAD collection survived! Oh well, there's always the next mudslide or earthquake! —Ed.

GOOD NIGHT, AND GOOD SUCK

I suck at everything. Really, I'm an epic failure at pretty much everything imaginable. I'm bad at most sports and my mental talents, are let's just say, limited. Please give me a little confidence and show that I'm at least good enough for your magazine.

Richard Thompson, Chesapeake, VA

Richie Rich — Being "good enough" for our magazine is hardly something worth bragging about. But, look on the bright side, when it comes to sucking at everything — you're the absolute best! —Ed.

SICK OR TREAT

Halloween has come and gone, and yet, we're still haunted by the photos readers sent in of their costumes and jack-o'-lanterns. Who knew that the sweet, smiling face of Al Jaffee could be so terrifying when carved into a gourd? Below are some of the best examples of the many we received.

Make A Dumb Wish Foundation™

I recently became a class rep for my class. So now, I have to go to some lame meetings every now and then. Then an idea struck me on the head. If I had enough MAD Magazines, I could start a library of them! I could have a whole section! So my wish for the Make A Dumb Wish Foundation™ is to send me a boxload of MADs so I can add them to the MAD library — what do you think?

Gorjan Veletic, Ontario, Canada

The Gorjan Identity — We think if you do that you'll get impeached from your position for sure and then you wouldn't have to attend those stupid meetings — sounds good to us! We're going to send you the last two years of MAD so you can build your dream library! —Ed.

A GUARD DAY'S NIGHT

I have this really boring job as security in an office building in Massachusetts and believe me, it can be hellishly torturous sitting for hours on end which seem to last for an eternity. But between the logging in and out of people and watching the cameras I can always look to your magazine to cheer me up and make the time pass — especially when I have to pull the double fifteen-hour shift. Anyway, keep up the good work and I'll continue to spread the word about your magazine!

Robert Clemons, Grafton, MA

Corn On The Rob — Hellishly torturous sitting? Sounds like your problem might just be hemorrhoids — we're glad MAD helps, but you may want to try one of those foam donuts and some Preparation H! —Ed.

The Big Easel

This past summer, I was bored since all my friends were somewhere at a camp or their grandparents. So you see what I did to my toes? I drew Alfred's face on my toe nail. How many people do you know that actually would do that? I don't know anyone who will even write something on their forehead, which I do on a daily basis. I also dressed up as an old lady who got into a car accident for Halloween! You could consider me pretty damn weird!

Ashley Davie, Billings, MT

Ash Clown — That's amazing! The only thing we've seen that's even remotely like that is the images of Melvin and Jenkins on Senior Editor Charlie Kadau's big toes. However, those weren't done deliberately, they were formed by fungus! Sadly, the only photographic record of that exists in his podiatrists' top secret "Freak" file! Thanks for writing — we're just glad that winter is here and it's sock weather! —Ed.

Hawthorne brings you a sculpted masterpiece—the "Black Pearl Ghost Ship Collection"—inspired by Disney's blockbuster film Pirates of the Caribbean. This frighteningly hand crafted, hand painted and eerily illuminated ghost ship features a treasure of meticulously sculpted details, skeleton pirates that really move, spooky sounds and real tattered & torn cloth sails with rope riggings. Arrr! She's the finest ship to sail the Spanish Main!

Shiver me timbers! It be a bloomin' value!

Begin your collection with Set One, "Cursed Pirates" (includes the Jack Sparrow figurine and five more fully sculpted figurines), yours for only three easy payments of $19.98*, the first due before shipment. Subsequent issues in the collection—at the same attractive price as Set One—will include the incredible "Black Pearl" ship and more heirloom-quality Figurine Sets sent about every other month. Your second issue will be the "Black Pearl." You can cancel at any time simply by notifying us.

HAPPY HOUR CANDIDATE RUNDOWN

'ello, I'm Bore Growl! Each week I teach survival skills by getting dropped into wild, dangerous places and finding my way out with only a few tools, my military survival training and my cool-sounding British accent! But there's a rumor I've been "surviving" by spending nights in fancy hotels instead of freezing my arse off outside! Some folks are even saying I'm a phony! Well, to prove I'm not, I'm going on my most dangerous outing yet...

MAN VS. WILD... AT THE MALL

Normally, I'm dropped into my locations via helicopter, but today I'm doing something even more dangerous! I'm letting my mum drive me here, which means I risk dying of embarrassment!

Don't do anything dangerous, Bore-y! And remember, mommy wuvs you! And don't forget my foot cream! Byeeeeeeeeee!

Loose-fitting clothing is really, really important! Not only does it let your body vent heat, but you can cover your face so no one recognizes you!

Look at this place — it's massive! And it's really, really intimidating! If I'm going to get to the other side and out of here alive, I need to get my bearings! But with the enormous roof totally blocking the sky there's no sun setting in the west or North Star to guide me. That could mean trouble!

Uh-oh! Over there is the scariest thing you can encounter in any mall — Cool Teenage Girls! I've got to be careful and — no, they've spotted me!

Like wolves, teenage girls run in packs! They're meaner than cobras and can cut you to shreds like an ocelot, only instead of claws, they use withering glares and sarcastic comments!

Ohmigod! Check out the loser who's, like, totally Eddie Bauer!

Are those hiker shorts he's wearing? Because they're, like, all hiked up his butt!

I've got to hide, and fast! Or I'm doomed!

This Ball Crawl is the perfect hiding spot! Awesome!

Where'd he go? He's gone!

Who cares? Let's go make fun of some other pathetic dweeb!

It's good they're leaving because I can't stay in here long! With all these snot-nosed toddlers around, a Ball Crawl is basically a multi-color bacteria farm disguised as a playpen!

What's really, really scary is that all these little demons are completely unsupervised! I've got to get out of here fast, before it turns into Kid Nation and I'm the host of TWO lousy reality shows!

Fortunately, Mall Security Guards get their jobs because they're not in good enough shape to do real law enforcement! So by walking at a slightly brisk pace, I can easily outrun them!

You...! (PUFF) Stop...! (WHEEZE!) I said — (COUGH COUGH! GASPI!) — stop!

This is great! I can make my getaway without even breaking a sweat!

Hey! There's the guy who shoplifted the lipstick from Cosmetics World!

Uh-oh, I've been spotted by Mall Security! This is really, really bad! Mall Security guards aren't real cops, but they're still very dangerous! They can make me give the lipstick back or even call my parents!

I just remembered — my mum said to get her foot cream! That means I've got to take a detour to the dreaded Body Shop!

It smells really, really awful in here! Like potpourri mixed with Pine-Sol! So if I'm going to get out without tossing my crackers, I'll need something to block the odor!

These quarters I took from the fountain will make perfect nose plugs! Although with a nose as big as mine, I'm going to need about seven dollars worth!

With the day getting long, I was no closer to finding my way out and my spirits were starting to sag!

When you're in the mall for too long, it can really, really crush your will to live! So you need to give yourself a reason to press on!

With nightfall approaching, I had to get out — and fast! So instead of wasting time riding down the escalator, I took a shortcut!

These unnecessarily large shopping bags from the GAP should make a really, really good parachute!

Turns out, GAP bags make a really, really terrible parachute! Lucky for me, that overweight security guard was there to break my fall!

Success! The security guard knew the way out — and was all too happy to show it to me!

Well, that's it for now! Join me next time as I try to survive the deadliest place yet...

HERE WE GO WITH ANOTHER RIDICULOUS MAD FOLD-IN

During the Presidential election, the field is crowded with both good and bad candidates. This time, however, one person in particular made a real mockery of the office. Being in charge of a country is no laughing matter and we're grateful this character has been taken out of the running. To find out who this joker is, fold page in as shown.

MODERN HEART PENDANTS

BETTER ENDINGS TO FAIRY TALES
THAN "HAPPILY EVER AFTER"

Once a year the President goes up Capitol Hill and delivers to Congress the State of the Union Address. It is a tradition rich with hypocrisy, deceit and bold face lies, (which like most Congressional meetings.) For his part, the President tries to put the best light possible on his administration and its policies. The Congress pretends not to be locked up and the American people try not to look too closely whenever the congress goes in for a close-up on Ted Kennedy's sweaty hand fare. This January, George W. will be delivering his final State of the Union. And you can bet he'll be trying to cover the first drift of his legacy, regardless of what the facts are. Faster your seatbelts as...

Thank you all. Madam Speaker, Vice President Cheney, members of Congress, members of the Supreme Court, the Cabinet, Joint Chiefs of Staff, distinguished guests and my fellow Americans. I was elected because I was a leader who always looked to the future — no way did I want anyone ever looking into my past. By keeping my eyes on the future, I did not trouble myself worrying about things that were in the past — things like the Constitution, the Bill of Rights or the Gettysburg Convention!

This year, I heard the concerns of private citizens about so-called "illegal" wiretapping and invasions of their privacy by the government. However, what better way to hear the concerns of those alarmed citizens than by wiretapping and invading their privacy? When viewed from that perspective, the program has been an unprecedented success!

There are those who say that Social Security is on the brink of collapse. These neo-liberalists and neo-conservativists are wrong. The problem, however, is that this time is "on the brink". Nevertheless, we should welcome this oncoming collapse. It is during times of hardship and economic devastation that Americans show the determination and drive that made this country great! In the coming years I believe Americans will have unprecedented opportunities to demonstrate the determination and drive — all thanks to the policies of my administration!

Immigration remains a dividing issue. There are many who feel that immigrants are taking jobs away from deserving Americans. That is why I say we must continue to allow American corporations to outsource jobs to other countries. By sending those jobs away, immigrants have no incentive to come here and take them.

Present's A MAD LOOK AT DEATH

GET TO KNOW THE WHITEST KIDS U' KNOW...

The Whitest Kid You Know began when Trevor Moore met Sam Brown while both were making sounds at local comedy clubs in New York City. They discovered they both went to the School of Visual Arts and lived in the same dorm. Later they discovered they were also identical twins and even had the same parents. The two decided to start a comedy troupe. Five years later Creager joined them followed by Trinity Williams and lastly Darren Crumley. The five performers put on shows that would fill their venue to capacity and it soon became clear they needed a place bigger than the dorm closet they were using.

The Whistled Kids U' Know have become one of the most successful features on collegehumor.com, right behind "Girl with enormous breasts takes off her top" and "Guys drinking beer watch girl with enormous breasts take off her top." So for they have two Errings and one Tong, stolen from Alison Janney, Kelsey Grammer and the widow of Jerry Orbach, respectively. What lies ahead for The Whistled Kids U' Know? Possibly prison.

TREVOR MOORE

At the age of 12, Trevor Moore became the world's youngest published cartoonist with his book SCAMPY. By age 13 he was pretty much washed up in the business. Even the optimist, Trevor preferred to think of himself as a "one hit wonder." He had sold his first book. Trevor was on his agie, but had learned a valuable lesson: cartooning is not a steady, reliable career. So he took a bus to LA to pursue a safer and steadier occupation: stand-up comedy. At 29 he signed on with the Los Angeles Times to write a weekly comedy column called The Trevor Moore Show. For six months he conducted an exhaustive search for someone to be the star of the show before finally settling on himself. It was an unbearable strain for him to be the star of his own show, but this shared a mutual The not in history. And we know how boring history is, so it's not even

ZACH CREGGER

Zach Cogger was raised in Arlington, Virginia which was very inconvenient since he lived in Tulsa, Oklahoma. The daily commute took a toll on both his health and his school grades, but he racked up unbeschreibable frequent flier miles on seven different airlines. As a kid, Zach was interested in music, acting and saying the word "persegurante" in Spanish. He failed at the first two, but now teaches an accredited college course in the pronunciation of unusual fruits. We'll leave it at that.

WINTER BACK PROBLEMS
ARTHRITIS HERPESVIRUS INFECTION

SAM BROWN

Sam Brown grew up in the small Cape Cod town of Sandwich, Massachusetts where he could frequently be found playing football and chess. Unfortunately, Sam had trouble telling the games apart. This often resulted in injuries both to himself and the other chess players. In one instance, Sam moved 75 yards down the field with what he thought was the winning touchdown only to discover he was only carrying a walk. At his local access station, Sam and four of his friends started a variety show called TV Galore, which quickly became the highest rated TV show that had that name.

DARREN TRUMETER, JR.

Durren grew up as a military brat. According to Durren, he lived in numerous cities around the United States, including Germany. (If you ever meet Durren, don't ask him any questions about geography.) He started acting at the age of nine and has appeared in over 40 plays. Durren has no real love of the theatre; he appears in the plays simply to avoid having to pay for a ticket. At night Durren spends time with a loving wife and two kids. That will end when the business trip his husband comes back from when the wife

TIMMY WILLIAMS

Timmy is from Watertown, South Dakota. He moved to New York in August 2001 to attend film school. To supplement his income while attending school, he got a job at Blockbuster Video reselling DVDs. It was a thankless task. And a useless one too, but don't try to convince Timmy of that. Timmy is a loner who lives in Brooklyn with 5 cats, 3 dogs, 2 roommates and his parents. Timmy is the world's worst loner.

FATALLY POLKISH HUMOR

As long-time MAD readers are hardly aware, anti-artist John Caldwell has spent the last several years merrily satirizing the floundering doings of various segments of our society who have turned to the dark side. Priests, circus clowns, even tattoo artists have all been exposed to the unfettered and unflinching wit that is Caldwell's razor observational wit and sharp pen. But alas, his work is far from done, as you'll see. Here's the skinny on...
